

BIO BLUE

Trypan Blue Ophthalmic Solution 0.06 % W/V

Trypan Blue for Capsulorhexis in Phacoemulsification and Cataract Surgery

Description

It is a sterile solution of Trypan Blue. A biocompatible dye is used for staining anterior capsule to facilitate completion of Continuous Curvilinear Capsulorhexis. It provides a good visual image of the capsule and frequently used in eyes with mature cataracts, poor red reflex or narrow pupils.

Indications

- Phacoemulsification
- Small Incision Cataract Surgery
- Extra Capsular Cataract Surgery
- Incomplete Capsulorhexis
- Anterior/Posterior Capsulotomy
- Membrane peeling

Supply

Bio Blue is a sterile solution of Trypan Blue is available in 1 ml sterile glass vial and Bio Blue PFS 1 ml in sterile glass syringe.

Composition

Each ml contains:

- Trypan Blue 0.6 mg
- Sodium Chloride 8.2 mg
- Buffered Aqueous Base q. S.

BIO BLUE PLUS

Trypan Blue Ophthalmic Solution 0.15% W/V

An aid in macular hole surgery

Indications

- It is used to stain the internal limiting membrane (ILM the inner most layer of retina) during vitreoretinal surgery
- In diabetic retinopathy